Offer of additional uninsured motorist coverage and optional underinsured motorist coverageI. Explanation of coverages

Motor vehicle liability insurance coverage pays for bodily injury to others and their property, the damage caused by you and to which you are legally responsible. There are two types of motor vehicle liability insurance coverage: bodily injury and property damage. Bodily injury coverage pays for bodily injuries to others in a case by your motor vehicle. Property damage coverage pays for damage to other motor vehicles, buildings, or other vehicles or property.

Under South Carolina law, an insurance company may refuse to write you motor vehicle liability insurance for a number of reasons. If an insurance company decides to write your motor vehicle liability insurance coverage, however, it must provide at least $25,000 of bodily injury coverage for each person whom you may injure in any single accident and $50,000 of bodily injury coverage for two or more people whom you may injure in any single accident. The insurance company must also provide at least $25,000 of property damage coverage for each accident you may cause. You may have seen these limits described as $25,000/$50,000/$25,000 or 25/50/25. These limits are commonly known as minimum limits. In order to drive your motor vehicle upon the roads of this State, you must have at least these minimum limits of insurance, unless you post a satisfactory bond or pay a $500 yearly drive uninsured. There is no requirement that an insurance company offer higher than minimum limits of motor vehicle liability insurance coverage. If your insurance company does offer more than the minimum limits, you will be required to pay an additional premium for those increased limits of protection.
